

Working together to build a better Columbia County

Volunteer Columbia has made Columbia County a better place to live and work. Columbia County has become first in volunteering. We have built both an Internet and a walk-in volunteer center with a no wrong door approach to volunteering.

"Being a volunteer has made me feel useful and needed. Going into retirement was terrific but very soon I began to realize that I needed to be around people more to be productive and useful.

I have never felt so appreciated, in addition, as the budget woes continue I feel even better about my contribution of time and effort. I have such a variety of different interests and I have been able to find positions that let me enjoy those interests.

I really believe my health is better because of my volunteer efforts because it keeps me active physically and emotionally. I am appreciated and you will be too by volunteering in your community.
